

San Francisco Visit

March 27 to April 2, 2011

This is the second in a series of photos from our San Francisco vacation in March. We went up to Coit Tower, which is on a hilltop with phenomenal 360 degree views of San Francisco. We've been up to Coit numerous times previously, and have learned that the best time to visit is on Sunday morning to avoid lines and congestion. We arrived here at 10 am, and by the time we departed, there was a long line forming. It was a beautiful crisp day to sightsee!

San Francisco Visit

On Sunday and Thursday, we went to mass at St. Peter and Paul Catholic Church, in Little Italy. It is across from Washington Park on Filbert Street, near Stockton Street. Beautiful interior. The exterior was being restored as well as strengthened for earthquakes.

We went hiking at Baker Beach Park, which had great vista of the Golden Gate Bridge. It was a windy, brisk day but enjoyed the hiking trail.
